

Hi there,

I want to say to both my wonderful instructors that I am working on catching up! In 2014 I took Fewd and did not feel like I fit in with the class. That class avoided GitHub! They never mentioned it except to say it was 'too involved, we won't cover it in this class'.

Hence, I wish I had officially gotten more out of the class.

For Matterhorn, I wasn't sure if I would just sit to audit or be an active member, and I know now I really want to be active and learning.

So I admit that I am working on correcting my flub-ups including figuring out GitHub. In fact, Mike, after you helped mine link, I may have messed up my Desktop directory and accidentally deleted stuff from it - but they're on the site and won't pull-request?! I might require some help resetting it all — I am A-OK with deleting everything else on there apart from Matterhorn classwork and homework.

And after I can get that done I will be able to publish all my work for you to review.

Thank you for letting me sit in.
